

You are cordially invited to

The Centennial Ball

You and three guests have been chosen to attend the most prestigious event of this century, known as The Centennial Ball! You will taste the most exotic cuisine, drink from endless decanters of the finest wines the realm has to offer, experience the greatest entertainer's gold can buy, and play games for wondrous magical prizes. All attendees of this event over the one-thousand years of its existence have had their lives altered forever by the warm embrace of debauchery. Only a select few are invited each one-hundred years, so don't miss out on the chance of a lifetime! Be at the rober camp north of the city at dusk of the next full moon and you will begin your life's greatest adventure!
