

The Starfall Prophecy

*Blazing through the midnight sky,
The new age of man draws near.
Two worlds collide in the burning waste,
Their souls bound by fate and fear.
The Crimson Dawn promises war,
Dragons and Gods concealed.
Our hero's only hope to die
before the true threat revealed.
A mother's love reveals the truth,
But her father's greed spells doom.
The key forever lost with the dead
In the past forever entombed.
Divine the relics of hope and despair,
For peace will cost all in the end.
Gods and men both face their fate,
A soul collected for the realm to mend.*

